Hurricane Delta followed a path through Louisiana almost identical to Hurricane Laura's nearly six weeks earlier. At 7:30 a.m., Saturday, Sandy Creek along Hwy 366 in Pollock had overflowed its banks and flooded nearby homes.

Delta adds 'gut punch' six weeks after Laura

By Brian Blackwell

ALEXANDRIA, La. (LBM) — Louisiana received a "gut punch," Friday, Oct. 9, as the second hurricane in six weeks made landfall in the state.

The eye of Hurricane Delta crashed ashore at 5 p.m., Oct. 9, as a Category 2 storm with maximum sustained winds of 100 mph in Creole, nearly 13 miles east of Cameron, where Laura made landfall as a Category 4 hurricane (150 mph winds) on Aug. 27.

According to the National Weather Service, Delta had weakened to barely a tropical storm (35 mph sustained winds) as it exited into Mississippi at 7 a.m., Saturday, having followed a nearly identical path as Laura.

More than 565,000 businesses and homes in the state were without power as of 10:15 a.m., Oct. 10.

Delta also dumped heavy rain on parts of the state, which resulted in numerous road closures. AccuWeather reported late Friday that approximately 17.02 inches of rain fell in Iowa, just east of Lake Charles. Meanwhile, Bell City, about 7 miles south of Iowa, received 16.31 inches of rain and Lake Charles, 15.68 inches.

MERRYVILLE, La. (LBM) — Michael Burgess prayed for God to move when he accepted the call the weeks following Hurricane Laura.

drell, LifeWay's president and CEO, claiming that the lucrative deal given his predecessor Thom Rainer was negotiated without the input, oversight or knowledge of the board of trustees elected by the Southern Baptist Convention.

The alleged Oct. 7 exchange with LifeWay employees was in response to the recent whirlwind of controversy surrounding a LifeWay lawsuit against Rainer for breaking terms of his severance agreement which included at least $1 million and a non-compete clause that was to run until October 2021.

BACKGROUND

Rainer was CEO of LifeWay from February 2006 through February 2019. Before that he was a professor for 12 years at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

In this 2006 Baptist Press photo at Lifeway's former Gloria Conference Center (sold in 2013 for $1) CEO Thom Rainer is shown telling trustees "Being a Christian resource provider is a tough business. I don't like to talk about competition, but we've got to do something different if we are going to be an effective, viable ministry in the future." He also said LifeWay Christian Stores had a "breakout year" with a proven business model that separates it from competitors and that future prospects are encouraging, according to the Baptist Press report.

Lifeway, the $500 million publishing arm of the Southern Baptist Convention experienced eight consecutive years of multi-million dollar losses prior to Rainer announcing in 2017 his intention to resign in 2018. He stayed in leadership through February 2019, the month before the announced closing of all 170 LifeWay bookstores. A Baptist Press analysis of LifeWay's 2010-2017 audits showed "total operating expenses exceeded sales," growing in deficit each year from $2.3 million to $35.5 million. Additionally, LifeWay sold its downtown headquarters for $125 million and relocated to the Gulch, a toney and pricey area of Nashville. At the time of that decision, in 2016, Rainer told the Nashville Business Journal that "we're willing to pay a premium to stay in downtown Nashville compared to other opportunities."

Now, Lifeway has placed for sale its venerated Ridgecrest Conference Center in North Carolina and is contemplating the same for its three-year-old headquarters. At this time, the nearly new nine-story Nashville property, known as Capitol View Plaza, is listed for lease with Colliers International at $32 per square foot and includes "a full floor conferencing center with seating for up to 700, full workout facility, cafeteria, spacious outdoor terrace with Wi-Fi, on-site security, structured parking."

Mandrell has been directing Lifeway about a year, since August 2019.

LEAKED DETAILS

Both Mandrell (in the leaked recording) and LifeWay's trustee officers (in a leaked memo) indicated that the sweetheart deal for Rainer, one of the top paid executives in the SBC, was made without the consent or even knowledge of the trustees responsible for such decisions.

Mandrell said that in an effort to save some jobs at LifeWay he had contacted Rainer to seek return of some of the money given him, telling his predecessor, "such a generous transition agreement in my opinion should have been approved with a larger set of eyes."

Meanwhile, a supposed Oct. 3 letter from LifeWay's trustee officers states that the "transition agreement" with Rainer was "signed by then Board Chairman Jimmy Scroggins and former Senior Vice President of Organizational Development Selma Wilson ... without being reviewed by or with knowledge of the Compensation Committee of Executive Committee."

Scroggins is pastor of Family Church, formerly the First Baptist Church, in West Palm Beach, Florida. He has been a LifeWay trustee since 2014 and served as chairman of the LifeWay board from 2018-2020. His second term ends in 2022. Lifeway has published materials by Scroggins in 2016 and 2020 and a book is slated for re-

Credentials Committee: Messengers must register for 2020 annual meeting

By Staff

Baptist Message

PINEVILLE, La. (LBM)—In order for a church to be represented during the business portions of the Louisiana Baptist Convention to be held Nov. 10 in the Guinn Auditorium on the campus of Louisiana College in Pineville, it will need to elect messenger(s), who then must register and be certified by the Committee on Credentials.

Chairman Todd Free noted to the Baptist Message that there are five ways for messengers to register and be approved:

— The first and simplest way is for messengers to pre-register using www.LaOne.org and printout the registration card to bring to the annual meeting. This way allows messengers to be certified within a matter of minutes, Free said.

— Second, a messenger

LBC seeks resolutions

ALEXANDRIA, La. (LBM) -- Louisiana Baptists are invited to submit resolutions for possible consideration by messengers at the 2020 Louisiana Baptist Convention.

Resolutions may be submitted for review and consideration not fewer than 15 days prior to the LBC annual meeting, Nov. 10, providing a window of opportunity through Oct. 26

Resolutions should be typewritten, titled and dated, and, accompanied by a letter --from a church qualified to send a messenger to the annual meeting of the Louisiana Baptist Convention--certifying that the person submitting the resolution is a member in good standing. The letter should include complete contact information for both the person submitting it and his or her church.

No person may submit more than three resolutions per year.

Steve McAlister, Westside, Natchitoches, is the Committee on Resolutions chair.

Proposed resolutions may be faxed, 318.449.4287, emailed, Policy@Louisiana-Baptists.org, or mailed (ATTN: Resolutions Committee, LBC Office of Public Policy, P. O. Box 311, Alexandria, LA 71309).

If you desire assistance with wording or formatting, please contact LBC Public Policy Director Will Hall by phone, 318.448.3402, or email, Policy@Louisiana-Baptists.org.

may bring a note on official letterhead signed by the pastor or church clerk, stating that the individual was elected by the congregation.

— Third, a church officer can phone in the names of elected messengers.

— Fourth, a person can be vouchsafed as a duly elected messenger by a fellow registered church member.

— Finally, when there is no other means by which to validate a person, a meeting of the Committee on Credentials may be called to make a determination.

Free emphasized that pastors are not automatically registered as messengers and said they must follow the same procedure as other messengers in order to participate in the business discussions and official votes of the annual meeting.

NOTICE TO CHURCHES

Due to current COVID-19 restrictions and social distancing requirements we ask messengers to make every attempt to pre-register, AND BRING YOUR CARD WITH YOU. Scanning the card you print out at home or work will result in fewer touches at the annual meeting site.

Pre-registration letters were sent Oct. 2. Please use the provided login information to pre-register your messengers at www.LaOne.org.

If you have not received your letter, or if you have questions about the process, please contact LBC Information Services by email (Messengers@LBC.org) or phone (318.448.3402 ext. 242 or 210).

'Here for You' impacts lost, encourages saved

By John Kyle

Louisiana Baptist communications director

ALEXANDRIA, La. – Without the Georgia Barnette State Missions Offering, the multi-media outreach, "Here for You," would not exist.

That's according to John Kyle, director of communications for Louisiana Baptists.

"In a sense, Georgia Barnette and 'Here for You' are a marriage made in 'missions heaven,'" Kyle noted. "Missions mean go – go to places and people who need to hear the Gospel. That's exactly what 'Here for You' is doing. Only we're doing this inside the borders of Louisiana."

Launched in the summer of 2014 as part of the President's 2020 Commission, "Here for You" is attempting to impact the estimated 2 million people in Louisiana who do not have relationships with Christ.

"We talk a lot about those two million people and occasionally we'll pray for them. 'Here for You' is an intentional effort to consistently go where they live and work, and creatively seed God's truth in their hearts."

Georgia Barnette gifts supported pilot campaigns in three of Louisiana's seven markets from 2014 – 2018. "Here for You" launched statewide in February 2019.

Kyle says much was gleaned from the pilot campaigns.

"'Here for You' started out as the tagline for the commercials and the website was LouisianaBaptists.info. People were getting confused so we rebranded everything to 'Here for You,'" said Kyle. "We also learned that while people were visiting the website, they were not staying and viewing the Gospel presentation. This led us to revamp the website with the goal of making the visitor experience more engaging and directing them to various areas on the site including finding a church, learning more about Louisiana Baptists, viewing the commercials and of course, the online Gospel presentation."

Perhaps the most significant addition to the strategy is the partnership with the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association.

"A friend of mine works with Franklin Graham and told me about their internet evangelism effort which has seen more than 15.5 million website visitors indicate decisions for Christ around the world," Kyle explained. "The BGEA is seeing in excess of six thousand visitors from Louisiana to their website each month. They designed a special landing page for 'Here for You' and that portal has seen over 4,300 views of the Gospel presentation and just under 900 have indicated they made decisions for Christ this year."

IF NUMBERS COULD TALK

"If numbers could talk, 'Here for You' is definitely getting a hearing," Kyle noted.

"In the second quarter of 2020, during the beginning of the quarantine, Louisiana Baptists seeded God's word into 95 percent of television households across the state during the weeks the commercials aired. An average of 250,000 people each month are being reached via social media and streaming services. When you include the reach of our Billy Graham partnership, the numbers indicate people are hearing God's word as it's seeded in their hearts and homes."

IN THEIR OWN WORDS

Each month, the BGEA includes comments from those indicating decisions for Christ through the 'Here for You' landing page. Kyle noted these provide a glimpse of how God is using this effort in the hearts of people across the state.

"When I read these comments, which often include the addictions and struggles being experienced, Jesus' words 'he felt compassion for them, because they were distressed and dejected, like sheep without a shepherd,' come to mind," Kyle reflected. "You can't help but pray for them and thank God for the opportunity to engage them with the Gospel."

Comments received over the last several months include:

"My life feels upside down, I'm not having any good luck.... Please help me to find way back to my heavenly Father."

"How do I know God has forgiven me?"

"I believe there is a God but I

PROVIDING FOR FAMILY NEEDS AND IMPACTING THE KINGDOM

Christians are motivated to meet the needs of family members because of our love and loyalty to them. Many have minor children who are understandably heavily dependent on parents for their needs to be met. There are others who have parents depending upon their children because of unforeseen circumstances in life. Some have adult children who have special needs and are financially dependent upon their parents. Others are the legal guardians of grandchildren because of challenging circumstances and those grandchildren are financially dependent upon their grandparents. Life seems to have some unusual circumstances placed before us occasionally. What most individuals have in common is the motivation to step-up and help family members in times of need.

The above provides some real life circumstances that occur in the lives of many. There are charitable tools to help address some of these life circumstances as well as impacting the Kingdom one day. Consider the significance of that last statement. You have the ability to meet the needs of family as well as impacting the Kingdom one day! For more information, please contact the Foundation at 877-523-4636.

Providing For Family Needs and Impacting The Kingdom:

PLANNING RESPONSIBLY

Individuals in charge of minor children need to have a Will in order to name a primary guardian and backup guardian as well as having other plans in place through the Will. From a planning standpoint, consider reflecting your values in the beneficiary section of your Will such as your family and church.

HELPING PARENTS FINANCIALLY

A Charitable Gift Annuity (CGA) can help parents financially in retirement years. An amount of cash or stock can be given to a CGA and it provides retirement income to one's parents for the rest of their lives. Afterwards, the remainder can benefit a church or other ministry.

RECEIVE RETIREMENT INCOME, BENEFIT CHILDREN, IMPACT THE KINGDOM

A Charitable Remainder Trust (CRT) can receive cash, stock, real estate, business interest and/or other assets. The CRT provides retirement income for life, benefit the children for a term of years after mom and dad pass away, and the remainder benefits a church and/or other ministry.

Please feel free to reprint these ideas in your church's publications to encourage estate stewardship from your members.

2020 Commission update: Impacting the culture, strengthening families

By Staff
Baptist Message

ALEXANDRIA, La. (LBM) – Louisiana Baptists are in the final year of implementing the President’s 2020 Commission Report, an initiative undertaken during the leadership of Waylon Bailey, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Covington, and the LBC president in 2012-2013.

The 2020 recommendations were crafted collaboratively by a commission of 400 Louisiana Baptist leaders, staff members and laypeople, working in 20 subcommittees of 20 members each. Ten “key actions in reaching our state” – known as KAIROS – were developed to engage two audiences – the next generation and every people group. These measures for improving the spiritual health and growth of the state were adopted by messengers at the 2013 Louisiana Baptist Convention Annual Meeting.

This is the final article in a series published by the Baptist Message to report what successes have been achieved toward the ambitious goals of the statewide initiative, as well as to note what objectives remain to be done.

KAIROS 10 – Lead Louisiana Baptists to maximize their collective influence in the arena of moral and cultural concerns, especially in strengthening families.

The 2020 Commission recommended three specific goals:

- Continue to expand the interaction between the LBC Office of Public Policy and the State of Louisiana Administration, Judiciary, and Legislature.
- Create a network for informing and involving Louisiana Baptist members and congregations about legal, social, and moral issues that need Christian engagement. The Office of Public Policy will report on progress.

• Continue to develop strategies that help Louisiana Baptists minister to children in distress. The Louisiana Baptist Children’s Home will keep the LBC informed on progress.

The Office of Public Policy represents Louisiana Baptists regarding moral issues, social concerns and religious liberty matters and works at all levels of government to develop public policy that represents Louisiana Baptists’ consensus views.

Since 2015, the Office of Public Policy has helped translate 11 Louisiana Baptist resolutions into state laws that: established separate legislative task forces to reduce divorce and to protect children from online pornography; provided immunity for churches who, in trying to prevent sexual assaults, show good faith in reporting to future employers about concerns regarding a former employee’s suspected sexual misconduct; and, defeated the attempt to move a riverboat casino to Tangipahoa Parish.

The Office of Public Policy also has worked with a coalition of like-minded groups and individuals to pass essential pro-life legislation and has taken a lead role in the statewide ballot measure known as the Love Life Amendment, a constitutional change that will prevent a state judge from overturning common sense protections for mothers and their unborn babies.

Finally, the Office of Public Policy has worked on issues important to Louisiana Baptists life, work and ministry, helping to push to expand broadband internet into the 40 percent of our state that is rural, and working with national leaders to include churches, evangelists and ministries in the C.A.R.E.S. Act so that those seeking PayRoll Protection Program loans would have access to them.

The Louisiana Baptist Children’s Home & Family Ministries, has continued long-time ministries such as housing children in on-campus cottages, but since 2012 has begun several new ministries:

- Connect 1:27 foster care and adoption network provides individuals and churches a toolkit to be a “helper to the orphan.” Louisiana Baptist families have cared for more than 400 children through this program.
- Compassion for Kids offers ministry designed to meet the basic life needs of 2,700 economically-challenged children and their families in Northeast Louisiana. Projects are conducted in partnership with local churches and include providing food, clothing,

LBC RESOLUTION

The Committee on Resolutions is submitting the following resolution for adoption by messengers:

RESOLUTION: ON GOSPEL RESOLVE

WHEREAS, messengers to the annual meeting of the Louisiana Baptist Convention have a long history of adopting resolutions to express positions on an array of issues that are important; and

WHEREAS, there are a number of issues that could easily justify a response by the messengers to the 2020 Convention; and

WHEREAS, our entire nation generally has been ravaged by COVID-19, political division, incidences and accusations of racial inequality; and

WHEREAS, our state, specifically, was devastated by the catastrophic Hurricane Laura; and

WHEREAS, the Bible gives evidence that Jesus came with singularity of purpose to seek and to save the lost (Luke 19:10, 1 Timothy 1:15); and

WHEREAS, the Bible gives us the example of the early Church being totally focused on the proclamation of the Gospel above all other matters (Acts 2, 3, 4) even more determined when confronted with various divisive issues (Acts 5, 6, 15) and even persecution (Acts 7); and

WHEREAS, the Apostle Paul in his most challenging cultural context, Corinth, resolved to know nothing except Jesus Christ and Him crucified (1 Corinthians 2:2); and

WHEREAS, the uncertainty of the time of Jesus' appearing (Matthew 24:42) calls for Gospel urgency as well as the billions of those who have yet to respond to the Gospel; and

WHEREAS, we believe that the Biblical vision of Heaven is that a "multitude from every nation, tribe, people, and language, which no one can number stands around the throne" of God forever and ever (Revelation 7:9); now therefore, be it

RESOLVED, that the messengers to the Louisiana Baptist Convention meeting in Pineville, Louisiana, November 10, 2020, affirm that the Gospel is the ultimate answer to every problem in our lives and culture; and be it further

RESOLVED, that we use this historic occasion to announce that we desire to be a people known by one purpose—to know Him and the power of His resurrection (Philippians 3:10) and determine to know nothing except Jesus Christ and Him crucified; and be it finally

RESOLVED, that we display our commitment and unity by adopting this one and only resolution.

Baptist Message

ALEXANDRIA, La. (LBM) – The 2020 Youth Evangelism Celebration is going on the road this year for three one-night events called “YEC: Limited Edition.”

Originally, YEC was scheduled to convene at the Rapides Parish Coliseum in Alexandria, Nov. 22-23, but novel coronavirus pandemic attendance restrictions caused the event to move to a regional format.

First Baptist Church in Haughton will host the first of these smaller gatherings, Nov. 8, 6-8 p.m. Eddie Briery, pastor of The Church at Red River in Shreveport, will be the main speaker.

Louisiana College will host the second in the series, Nov. 11, 6-8 p.m. Derek “Griff” Griffon, student pastor at The Bayou Church in Lafayette, will be the main speaker. This event also will be live-streamed on the Louisiana Baptist website for groups who can't attend.

First Baptist Church in Lafayette will close out YEC: Limited Edition, Nov. 15, 6-8 p.m. Shane Pruitt, National Next Gen Evangelism Director for the North American Mission Board, will be the guest speaker.

Nick Parish, interim worship leader at Grawood Baptist Church in Keithville, will provide music at all three regional events.

All participants will be required to wear a mask at the three events, and group leaders must take temperatures of each participant prior to arrival at the venues. Additionally, groups will be seated together and distanced from other churches.

- HomePlace offers homeless women and their children a place to stay for six to 12 months at no cost to the residents, and their stay can be extended. More than 500 women and their children have participated in the program since its inception in 2010. While there, the women may work toward their high school equivalency and receive life and job training through the Christian Women's Job Corps. Perry Hancock, president and CEO of the Children's Home, said future plans include the development of care strategies for child victims of human trafficking and residential care for women who are victims of domestic violence.

“The development of new ministries since 2012 has been made possible through the many ways our churches and convention support the Children's Home,” Hancock said. “Louisiana Baptists have a strong desire to provide love, care, and hope in Christ for children and families in need. We are so grateful for the life-changing support.”

Scripture Crypto

The Scripture Crypto is a Bible verse in which one letter has been substituted for another, thus encoding the verse. To find out what the verse is, you must determine what each letter is a substitute for. An “a,” for example, may stand for a “t” in this week's issue of the ScriptureCrypto. Next week, “a” could stand for a “d.” Each week, each letter is different. Solve by trial and error. The answer will be given next week. Note: All numerals, such as those in the scripture reference after the verse, are spelled out.

LC makes key additions to leadership team

By Elizabeth Christian
Louisiana College News

PINEVILLE, La. (LCNews) - Louisiana College President Rick Brewer has announced three new key leaders have joined the school: Will Smallwood, Eric Pratt and Mary E. "Beth" Poole Palmer.

WILL SMALLWOOD

As executive vice president, Smallwood will oversee enrollment, advancement, marketing and communications. He previously served as senior vice president for advancement and university relations for more than 10 years at Oklahoma Baptist University.

"We are thrilled Dr. Will Smallwood has joined the leadership team at Louisiana College," Brewer said. "Will brings a proven track record of success and experience in business and higher education to Louisiana College. His calling and passion for the mission of Christian higher education will greatly benefit LC. Coupled with his keen vision, relentless dedication and focus on strategic goals and objectives, he will enhance our already strong leadership team. I am confident that prospective students and their families, as well as friends and alumni, will come to appreciate his servant-heart and passion for Christian liberal arts."

In his role, Smallwood will serve as LC's chief development officer, chief enrollment officer and development and enrollment, as well as donor and alumni relations. He will direct the college's programs in student recruitment and resource development, which brings together four public-facing units of the college that share many common goals and audiences.

"I am grateful and honored to join the Louisiana College family in this crucial role," Smallwood said. "LC has a rich history of preparing graduates and transforming lives, and I am excited to stand on the Hill with President Brewer in fulfilling this vision.

"Now more than ever, our world needs the excellent Christian liberal arts education found at LC," Smallwood added. "Graduates are equipped for lives of learning, serving, and leading that matter for Louisiana, for our nation, and our world. This is the incredible power and legacy of a Christ-centered collegiate education."

Pratt is the new vice president of administration. He previously served 17 years as the vice president of Christian development at Mississippi College and most recently as a higher education and retention strategist for SpotterEDU.

"Dr. Pratt will provide leadership for campus infrastructure, facilities maintenance, technology, and auxiliary services," Brewer shared. "His extensive background in Christian higher education leadership and administration will add significant value to the president's leadership team's service to the college's internal and external constituencies."

Pratt added: "my wife Penny and I are excited to join the LC family. Louisiana College is becoming a world class Christian university and I want to assist the administration, faculty and staff in demonstrating the love of Christ, developing followers of Christ, and delivering a college education and experience, which is preparing graduates and transforming lives."

MARY E. "BETH" POOLE PALMER

Also this fall, Palmer was appointed executive director for development and alumni affairs.

"The College is blessed to add Dr. Beth Palmer to the president's leadership team as our new executive director for development and

You Want Us to Do WHAT?

Football is back!

When I was a youth minister I worked out with a local high school football team as part of their "optional" summer conditioning program. During one of the workouts, the coach took us to the practice field and announced that we were going to run 50 forty-yard sprints. They wouldn't dare say it, but I knew what those young athletes were thinking, "You want us to do what?"

Translated – are you crazy? Do you know what you're asking?

I can't help but think this was going through the mind of Jesus' disciples at the end of the long day of ministry. Realizing it was late in the day, the disciples wanted Jesus to send the crowd away. The reason they gave was so the people could get something to eat before dark. The truth was they were tired and hungry. They had just returned from their mission trip, if you will, and Mark tells us the "apostles gathered around Jesus and reported all that they had done and taught." Jesus invited them to a remote place for some rest, but the crowds wouldn't let Jesus out of their sight. In fact, so many people were coming that Mark noted the apostles "did not even have time to eat."

Fast-forward to the end of a long, meal-less day of ministry. The disciples encouraged Jesus to send the crowd away. What Jesus said next caught them by surprise, "You give them something to eat." Mark 6:37.

Wait for it... You want us to do what?

The New Living Translation puts it this way, "With what?" they asked. "We'd have to work for months to earn enough money to buy food for all these people."

The New Testament is sprinkled with "you want us to do what?" assignments:

- Lazarus had been dead four days and Jesus said, "move the stone."
- The daughter of the religious leader died as Jesus was on His way to his house. Jesus said, she's not dead, only sleeping. Let's keep going!
- He told Peter to go catch a fish so they could pay their temple tax.

The next thing He asks is "what do you have?" When Jesus assigns us the task of reaching Louisiana, He's not going to ask us for more than we have, but He will ask us for what we have.

When Louisiana Baptists launched Here for You, a strategy to seed God's truth inside every heart and every home in the state, we asked the same question: You want us to do what? You want us to create 30 second, cinema quality messages on secular media outlets to share the Gospel? We did and God is honoring our obedience.

How has God used what you've given?

- In the second quarter of 2020, you've seeded God's truth in roughly 95% of TV households across Louisiana
- Social media and digital efforts are reaching over 250,000 people each month.

The task before us is great and Christ's directive is clear – you give them something. Instead of responding with "you want us to do what?" let's show the same compassion Jesus showed the crowd and give what we have. Let's work together, do whatever He tells us to do, and see what happens next. It may just be miraculous!

and has baptized five new converts, with additional baptisms scheduled in the coming weeks.

Many days, whether from the pulpit or at a feeding line for those impacted by Laura, Burgess marvels at how God has breathed life into the church within a short time.

"When I pull onto the church grounds I know this is where God is working," Burgess told the Baptist Message. "I've seen Him multiply our congregation and have seen people who left come back.

"One of my prayers to God when I took this church was 'let me see you work. If I preach, let me be good at it for you. But let me see this through your lens.' I thought it would be in baptisms but never knew it would occur out of a hurricane. Never did I think I would see it in lives turned upside down."

UNEXPECTED BLESSINGS

Nearly every day since Laura, the church has received supplies from individuals and churches locally, statewide and around the nation, which have been distributed to the community -- more than 1,500 food boxes and another 2,000 items such as personal hygiene products, cleaning supplies, baby food and clothes. Additionally, the church hosted 300 community members in September for a family fun day that included

While reported damage was still unknown, Baptist Message learned Tall Timbers Baptist Conference Center in Woodworth received water damage in the Indian Creek Lodge, as well as the activities building and the game room, according to Louisiana Baptists Executive Director Steve Horn.

"We are in the process of assessing the needs, making decisions about locations for our base of disaster relief operations and bringing back online the operations we had in place responding to Laura," Horn told the Baptist Message. "These will continue to be challenging times, but the beauty of this morning can be a reminder to us that God's faithfulness is new every morning."

PRAY FOR THE WEARY

Bruce Baker, director of missions for Carey Baptist Association, said people are weary. Many were repairing their homes that were damaged by Laura and must now deal with the aftermath of a second hurricane.

"Adding damage from Delta to the area will be devastating for many," he said. "I am praying that I suffer well. That people will remember how much we love Jesus and our neighbors and not how much we suffer. In many ways it is better that the storm followed a track similar to Laura. No reason for someone else to get new damage."

DR RESPONSE

Meanwhile, Gibbie McMillan, state strategist for Louisiana Baptists' disaster relief efforts, said a preliminary response plan has been put into place.

"We have Texas Baptist Men going to Trinity in Lake Charles to do feeding," he said. "Missouri Baptist Disaster Relief is on the way to Bayou Church in Lafayette and will set up a drive-in feeding center at First Baptist Church in Welsh, too.

He added that a team from Rolling Hills Ministries in Ruston was assigned to set up a feeding center at First Baptist Church in New Iberia and that the North Carolina Baptist Men incident command center was locating at First Baptist Church in Lafayette.

McMillan also gave an update on the ongoing response to Hurricane Laura.

"Arkansas Baptists will continue to operate the incident command center at Trinity Baptist Church in Lake Charles," he advised. "Southern Baptists of Texas Convention is sending a team to Philadelphia Baptist Church, Horseshoe drive, in Alexandria, as the incident command center for Laura and Delta. A Mississippi feeding team is on standby and we could send them to Oakdale First Baptist Church."

a cookout, inflatables and games.

Rayna Pajares, a recipient of grocery staples, began attending worship services in early September after watching members ministering to the community. Shortly afterward, she was convicted of her need for a Savior and publicly declared her new-found faith through baptism, Sept. 20.

"With all that was going on with the hurricane and the church, I felt it was time to make a commitment to Christ," Pajares said. "I have been overjoyed to have a part in helping others in need. This is what God wants us to do as His children."

Charlie Casner, already a believer, also joined the church after receiving food and subsequently volunteered to help other needy individuals at Green Oak Baptist.

Casner said he has received a blessing from giving of his time to help his fellow community members.

"It feels great to see those faces light up when you help them," he said. "The people just have this excited look on their face knowing someone cares."

lease in 2021, according to advertising on lifeway.com and amazon.com. Consequently, his service as a LifeWay trustee since 2016 appears to be in violation of SBC Bylaw 15. F. which states that no person or their spouse is eligible to serve on the board of an SBC entity "from which the person receives, directly or indirectly, any form of payment or financial benefit ... or, which provides funds for which he/she has a duty of administration. When such conditions become applicable, that person or that person's spouse shall be considered as having resigned and such vacancy shall be filled in accordance with established Convention procedure."

The leaked memo explained that Scroggins had agreed to retain Rainer as "an employee of LifeWay and provided him with full salary and benefits until Oct. 31, 2020 and gifted him a new car." Since "retiring" in February, Rainer has been paid a transitional salary of more than $1 million, plus benefits, not including royalty payments on his books published by LifeWay, according to the memo.

The LifeWay officers identified with the letter are: Todd Fannin, chairman, a businessman and a member of Life Fellowship Church, Pryor, Oklahoma; J.D. Perry, vice chairman, a businessman and a member of Woodlawn Baptist Church, Baton Rouge, Louisiana; and, Amy Mielock, secretary, [unknown vocation], a member of First Baptist Church, Cary, North Carolina. They said Rainer abrogated the terms of his transition agreement by seeking a book contract and other business relationship with Tyndale House Publishers, a LifeWay competitor.

WHAT NOW?

According to Baptist Press, Sept. 30, LifeWay had paused its lawsuit in order to allow both parties to explore "the possibility of an agreed upon resolution of the differences."

The Nashville Business Journal provided an update, Oct. 7, that LifeWay and Rainer had resolved their differences, citing a joint statement that said "Rainer has agreed to honor the transition agreement, including the non-compete clause. He has agreed not to move forward with his business partnership with Tyndale House Publishers, which was a violation of his non-compete agreement."

Meanwhile, in the recording Mandrell is heard telling LifeWay employees his top priority is to create a new ethos at the company.

"So the most important thing I'm doing in my first year as president is resetting the culture," he said, adding that such a change "starts at the top."

"So I have to live out the values, I have to embody them. Otherwise, they are just fancy words and cool fonts on a wall," he explained. "So when we say, when I say, that we care about character, what do we mean by that? We mean that we are far more interested in who we are before God than what we do for people. We must model integrity, we must keep standards high."

Protect the UNBORN, vote YES on #1

By Will Hall

Message executive editor

ALEXANDRIA, La. (LBM)—Voters will be offered the opportunity to protect state pro-life laws by approving Amendment #1 on the ballot, Nov. 3.

Known as the Love Life Amendment, the change to the state constitution is needed because of developments in 14 other states, where in each case a state court ruled that in the state constitution there was a right to abortion or the right to force the state to pay for abortions – but based on a creative interpretation of a general phrase or vague wording and not on anything that specifically stated such rights.

The Love Life Amendment does not outlaw abortion or address such controversies as exceptions for rape and incest. The language simply makes clear that there is no stated right to abortion in the Louisiana Constitution:

Amendment #1: Do you support an amendment declaring that, to protect human life, a right to abortion and the funding of abortion shall not be found in the Louisiana Constitution?

Please protect the unborn and vote “yes” on Amendment #1.

alumni relations,” Brewer said. “Beth’s extensive higher education administrative experience and love for her alma mater will translate into years of success for the College. Welcome home, Beth Palmer.”

Palmer comes to LC after 24 years at Texas Woman’s University, 35 years in higher education, and six years in middle and high school public school systems. She holds a bachelor’s degree from Louisiana College, an MBA and Ph.D. from Texas Woman’s University and a master’s degree in education from North Texas State University.

A former member of a Louisiana College Lady Wildcat basketball team that was nationally ranked two of the four years she played, Palmer, a standout at Rapides High, played a pivotal role for LC. She finished her career as holder of the school’s highest individual career field goal percentage (50.7 percent).

“I am excited about being back at LC and looking forward to serving our alumni and helping to develop the Wildcat Club,” Palmer said.

ADDITIONAL APPOINTMENTS

LC also announced that Evelyn Dean has been hired as executive director of finance and chief financial officer. She is a certified public accountant and previously worked for the accounting firm Payne, Moore & Herrington for 11 years.

Brewer also has engaged other faculty and staff, using their various backgrounds, to step into additional and increased roles. Those include: Shannon Tassin, executive director of human resources; Renee Melder, executive director of enrollment management; Elizabeth Barfoot Christian, director of college communications; Jennifer Dykes, director of marketing; Brian Manuel, coordinator of student behavior and accountability; Hannah Nyman, director of residential life and student engagement; and, McKayla King, director of recreational services/assistant director of residence life.

“I’m wondering what happens to you after you pray the ‘Sinners Prayer’?”

THE PROMISE

Almost two years into the statewide campaign, Kyle believes “Here for You” comes with a promise.

“When Jesus was explaining the parable of the sower to His disciples, He told them the seed represents the word of God and that ‘some’ of the seeds find good soil,” Kyle continued. “The Georgia Barnette Offering makes that ‘some’ a reality. It provides the seed.

“So the promise is two-fold: First, some of seeds find good soil. In other words, the scattering of the seed is not in vain. Second, seeds that find good soil provide a return 30, 60 or even 100 times more than what was scattered. That’s a promising worth pursuing.”

Convention from its Cooperative Program budget in 2022 and retain those funds to support state missions and ministries “until such time there is a collaborative, cooperative and mutually agreed upon strategy” with that national entity.

Alaska is one of six non-south Baptist state conventions (Alaska, California, Hawaii-Pacific, New Mexico, Northwest and Ohio) that have formally complained about NAMB’s new “Strategic Partnership Agreement,” saying it is not an agreement but a unilateral set of conditions being imposed upon smaller and mid-sized state conventions. In a recent exchange of letters, NAMB trustee officers dismissed the specific concerns, saying, “We’re not sure you could make a more complimentary accusation of us!” with regard to the situation being “centralized” and “directive.”

The action by Alaska Baptists, which will impact 22.79 percent of $156,171 of their annual contributions to national causes through CP (based on 2019 numbers), is the most drastic step taken, to date, by a state convention against NAMB which had an annual budget of $131 million in 2019 that included $50 million that used to be spent in partnership with state conventions.

NAMB is setting up what is described by some as a “competing state convention” in a number of non-south state conventions, establishing “Send Networks” to conduct church planting instead of working with these state conventions. Meanwhile, the new SPA requires these state conventions to request grants for church planting and evangelism projects in able to access some of the $50 million in funds that were contributed to NAMB by all 42 state conventions.

The motion submitted to Alaska Baptists was presented Sept. 29 by Michael Procter, a former executive director and treasurer for Alaska Baptists who retired in 2016 after five years in that position. It was adopted by messengers gathered in the First Baptist Church, Anchorage, with only 4-5 in attendance raising a hand in opposition, according to reports.
