Platt to leave IMB but stay during successor search

David Platt told IMB missionaries and staff Feb. 12 he will transition out of the SBC entity's presidency.

BY STAFF

Baptist Message

RICHMOND, Virginia – Five months after receiving permission to join the staff of a Northern Virginia congregation as teaching pastor, while also serving as president of the International Mission Board in Richmond, David Platt has announced his intentions to resign from the Southern Baptist Convention's largest cooperatively supported ministry.

BACKGROUND

Then-trustee chairman Hance Dilbeck, who was senior pastor of Quail Springs Baptist Church in Oklahoma City, related that the executive committee of the trustees had approved the dual roles but that trustees would “evaluate Dr. Platt’s fulfillment of his responsibilities as IMB president” as well as “McLean’s level of partnership with the Southern Baptist Convention” and revisit the matter during the Feb. 28-Mar. 1 IMB trustee meeting.

Dilbeck has since been elected as the next executive director of the Baptist General Convention of Oklahoma and stepped down as IMB trustee chairman.

ALEXANDRIA (LBM) – More than 12,000 people, combined, turned out across the state to march for life on three separate weekends in January and February.

According to information provided by Louisiana Right to Life, a crowd of 1,200 gathered in Baton Rouge; 5,600 assembled in Shreveport/Bossier and another 5,600 rallied in Alexandria/Pineville.

“It was such blessings to witness more than 12,000 Louisiana citizens at our three Louisiana Life March events boldly proclaim that every life deserves a lifetime,” Louisiana Right to Life CENLA Coordinator Brian Gunter told the Baptist Message. “We will never stop marching until every life is protected by law and welcomed with love into our world. We pray that we will see soon the end to abortion and assistance for all mothers.”

Mother, son become ‘family’ in Christ

BY BRIAN BLACKWELL

Message Staff Writer

JENA (LBM)—Anthony Paul became a babe in Christ a mere three days after turning 14 years old, but he was not alone in becoming a part of the family of God. He was blessed to have his mother April join him in celebrating the transformation that had taken place in both their hearts.

The mother and son joined four others for the special baptism service Aug. 12 at the First Mount Nebo Baptist Church in Jena.

“There are no words to describe the joy I felt as I watched him get baptized and then I followed,” April Paul recalled. “This day was on the level of excitement that I felt when he was born, and that experience helped make real to me the concept of rebirth that we were declaring publicly to my family and friends.”

Paul credited her son’s example of stepping forward in faith with her being obedient in being baptized.

She told the Baptist Message she had accepted Christ a decade earlier but had not followed through with baptism because she did not fully comprehend its importance.

“When I came out of the water, I was excited that I was following through with obedience that I had been putting off for 10 years,” Paul said. “I

PLATT'S STATEMENT

"I have come to the realization that it is not viable long-term for me to lead as president of the IMB while serving as teaching pastor in a church," Platt said, according to an IMB public relations release. "This realization has been sobering, for I don't believe I can choose between preaching and leading in the local church, and mobilizing and shepherding people in global missions. Therefore, I have come to the conclusion that if I am going to serve in this way in the local church, then I need to serve in different ways for the cause of global missions."

"I love this IMB family, and I want to encourage you continually with God's Word, I want to mobilize limitless missionaries to join you, and I want to work with you overseas in any ways I can help you," Platt said. "In short, I want to do anything I can to see missions succeed across and beyond IMB and the SBC for the glory of God."

MAJOR DEVELOPMENTS

Platt oversaw reductions of 983 overseas missionaries and 149 stateside staff as a means to establish a balanced budget for the entity, resulting in a force of 3,817 field personnel and 301 supporting staff in April 2016.

However, since the end of that process, the missionary count has continued to drop, reported as 3,582 in June 2017, when Platt told a select crowd at the SBC Annual Meeting that a turnaround was imminent.

"For years now, we have declined in the number of Southern Baptist missionaries serving around the world," he said. "But this year, the stage is set for that trend to be reversed. The stage is set for Southern Baptists to send more missionaries, through a multiplicity of pathways."

But the decline continued, with an end-of-year count totaling 3,562. This was a net loss of 34 field personnel for the year, but actually represents a shortage of 134 deployed workers because the budget included funding to increase by 100 new people.

Information posted Feb. 12 on IMB.org/faq indicates the shortage resulted from a lack of appointments.

Also, despite Platt's mid-year projection of a turnaround, the new information now states, "IMB leaders recognized we were not achieving the projected net increase" as the year progressed and intentionally chose not to move "too aggressively to place personnel on the field."

Finally, according to a monthly financial report issued by the SBC Executive Committee, gifts received by them for the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering are down about 4 percent at the end of January, although donations to the Annie Armstrong Easter Offering are up 25 percent and contributions through the Cooperative Program for national causes are about 4 percent ahead of the projected budget.

BEST WISHES FOR PLATT

New trustee chairman, Rick Dunbar, a member of the First Baptist Church in Madison, Mississippi, said he was "thankful that David will continue to lead until a new president is elected."

"We are sad, but also feel confident in the future as we move forward," Dunbar said in the IMB release. "We trust that David's gifts of preaching, teaching and writing will continue to bless the work of the IMB for many years to come, and we look forward to a long-term relationship."

Agarwal challenges students to focus on 'Next' things in life

BY BRIAN BLACKWELL

Message Staff Writer

ALEXANDRIA – Rahul Agarwal challenged students attending the recent Collegiate Evangelism Conference to consider how their everyday choices impact their future.

“When you ask about what’s next, are you thinking of what’s tomorrow or what’s in your future or are you thinking of what’s in light of eternity,” said Agarwal, the director of men and married couples at Gwinnett Church, a campus of the non-denominational North Point Community Church in Atlanta, Ga., and a former Baptist Collegiate Ministry director at the University of South Florida.

“So many times we are so relegated to now. We just think of now,” he continued. “We worry about our own lives instead of thinking of eternity and thinking about what God has for us.”

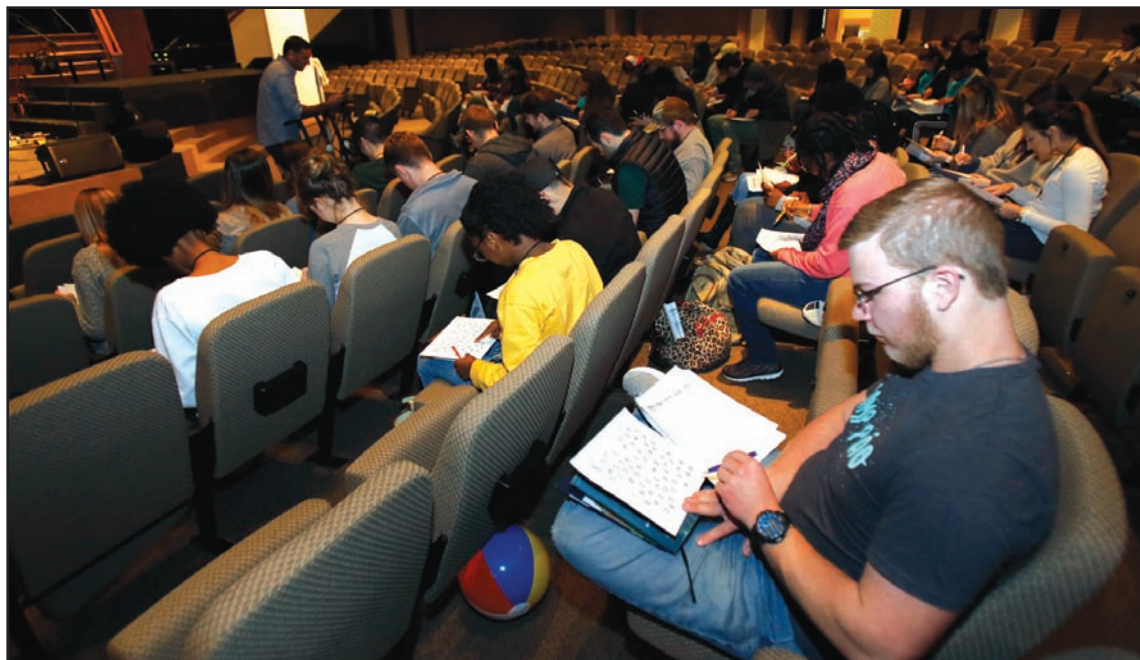

Responding to his challenge to include Christ in their future, 10 students came forward to declare Christ the Lord of their lives, while many others answered the Holy Spirit’s call to follow Christ in obedience on a daily basis.

Agarwal’s messages were part of a two-day conference that included seminars, worship led by the House Band – a group comprised of former Baptist Collegiate Ministry members from around the state – and a late-night fellowship.

The conference was centered around the theme – Next.

Mark Robinson, state BCM director for Louisiana Baptists, told the Baptist Message he was excited to see so many former student leaders in the worship and breakout seminars challenge the next generation to follow Christ.

“When you get this large of a group of college students and leaders together praying, listening and seeking God’s will in their lives it is a powerful time,” Robinson said. “I have heard many reports every day since CEC from campus ministries across the state about how much students loved the event and were energized to take on the semester for Christ. ## Women's conference to challenge participants to be more 'obedient'

By STAFF

Baptist Message

PINEVILLE – Author and Bible study leader Katie Orr and dramatist, speaker and author Gwen “Ms. Chocolate” Williams will challenge hundreds of women to become more obedient in their walk with Christ at the upcoming Kaleidoscope women’s conference.

More than 300 women are expected to attend the annual conference Feb. 23-24 at First Baptist Church, Pineville.

The theme of the 2018 conference is “Obedience.”

Janie Wise, women’s missions and ministry strategist for Louisiana Baptists, said this year’s Kaleidoscope features several firsts.

Not only has the conference expanded to include an additional day to offer more opportunities for fellowship and breakout sessions, but event organizers also will offer participants the chance to purchase a women’s missions and ministry shirt.

“The important thing about Kaleidoscope is what God has in store for each of us related to obedience,” Wise said.

“It’s not an easy topic, but I invite each woman across Louisiana to come and learn together,” Wise continued. “We will better serve the Lord and more effectively reach the lost when we learn to live in obedience to Him. We have a great program team to help us.”

During the main sessions, Orr, author of “Everyday Obedience” and creator of the FOCUSed 15 Bible study method, will teach on a life-style of obedience.

Orr and her husband, Chris, live in Harrodsburg, Ky.

Williams, a member of First Baptist Church, Pica-yune, Miss., also will present theme interpretation in the Friday evening session and teach a breakout conference on Saturday.

Heather and Casey Boone, members of Pine Ridge Baptist Church, Melder, will lead worship for the event.

Casey, minister of music at Pine Ridge Baptist, will accompany his wife during the Friday session.

Friday’s general session (Feb. 23) will take place starting at 7:15 p.m. in First Baptist Church’s newly renovated sanctuary.

Saturday’s general session is scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Eighteen breakout sessions will be offered between the main sessions with topics in the areas of spiritual growth, discipleship, personal development, leadership methods and family.

A coffee fellowship and lunch will be offered as well.

The cost to attend Kaleidoscope is $55. For more information and to register, go to <https://louisianabaptists.org/event/kaleidoscope/>

Marches from page one

A large contingent led the procession with a "Louisiana Life March" banner. Others held up signs proclaiming "Unborn Lives Matter," "Abortion Kills Babies" and "A True Feminist Would Fight For The Rights of Unborn Women." Some held signs urging action by pro-lifers, such as "Be A Voice For the Voiceless" and "Stop Abortion Now."

The theme of the marches — held Jan. 20 in Baton Rouge, Jan. 27 in Shreveport/Bossier and Feb. 3 in Alexandria/Pineville — was "Every Life Deserves A Lifetime."

The Louisiana Life Marches are a chance for different denominations, ages and ethnic and racial backgrounds to march together and pray to declare their opposition to the Supreme Court's Roe v. Wade decision that legalized abortion in 1973.

ALEXANDRIA/PINEVILLE

Gunter, pastor of First Baptist Church, Pollock, thanked the crowd Feb. 3 for their efforts in joining him and his church to further the pro-life cause by starting the first ever pregnancy care center in central Louisiana.

He told the crowd Feb. 3 that more than 200 churches, businesses and individuals helped make possible the CENLA Pregnancy Center that opened in December the crowd to abide by Galatians 6:9, "Do not grow weary of doing good, for in due season we will reap, if we do not give up."

"Brothers and sisters, make no mistake about this fact — we will win the fight to end abortion in America," Gunter said. "We will not stop marching. We will not stop serving. We will not stop praying. We are going to work our fingers to the bone and then, by God's grace, we are going to win."

Claire Lemoine, director of the CENLA Pregnancy Center, said more than 20 women have been served since the opening of the center. Some of them have even elected not to proceed with an abortion after seeing their baby on an ultrasound inside the facility.

"There is no matter more important than the matter of life," Lemoine said. "For 45 years now, the United States of America has allowed babies to be taken violently from the wombs of their mother, taken from the very person that was called to protect them. A baby has been called nothing more than a clump of 2017.

He said that pro-abortion pundits claim the fight to end abortion on demand is over. However, Gunter challenged cells. Lies have been told to our mothers, and they have suffered immensely.

“Because of the truth that has come into the light, as a nation we are moving in a direction of change,” she said. “We are moving in a direction of truth. We are moving in a direction of life.”

Louisiana College President Rick Brewer encouraged pro-life advocates to consider compassionate efforts like adoption and supporting a crisis pregnancy center. Brewer said he believes God has issued a challenge for those who value life to follow the example of Jesus Christ.

“He sacrificed his life to save us,” Brewer said. “What will we sacrifice to save the unborn?”

At the conclusion of the march, U.S. Rep. Ralph Abraham voiced optimism a bill would pass that would require abortionists to check for a baby’s heartbeat before proceeding with an abortion. The Heartbeat Protection Act also would restore legal protection to unborn children once it is detected.

However, the bill that has 169 co-sponsors has yet to advance beyond committee in the House.

“If we as a society legally say that life ends when the heart stopped beating, the least we can do is say life certainly begins with the heart starts beating,” said Abraham, a member of Alto Baptist Church. “For most of us here, we believe that life begins at conception. With 4D ultrasound and technology we have now, we can pick up a heartbeat very, very early. Hopefully we will get to where we can pick it up at day one of conception so that we will count that as life.”

Referencing Isaiah 43:1, Abraham said those in the pro-life movement should not fear the future as they fight for the unborn. He reminded them that their efforts do not go unnoticed by lawmakers in Washington, D.C.

The laughter of Jacob Hall (left) is contagious as his parents, Will and Catherine Hall, share about how their son has brought joy and blessings into their lives and many others he has encountered.

“So keep attending these marches,” he said. “Keep supporting the pregnancy centers, keep marching for the right to life because it really does matter.”

Offering a testimony were Baptist Message Editor and Louisiana Baptist Convention Office of Public Policy Director Will Hall, his wife, Catherine, and their son, Jacob.

During Catherine’s pregnancy with Jacob, her doctor tried to intimidate her and Will into making an “informed decision,” perceived by the Halls as code for “choose abortion,” Catherine shared.

She also told about how this doctor continued to raise negative issues, describing the hardships and inconveniences they and the baby would have to endure because of the likelihood of his having Down syndrome. Despite an unknown future, the Halls chose life for their son, the only option they believed was right.

Catherine said God has used Jacob to bless their family and others by showing that every life is a blessing.

“Our journey has not always been easy, but I doubt that any of yours have as well when you have children,” she said. “There is joy in the journey and Jacob has impacted and continues to impact many lives.”

“He is proof that every life deserves a lifetime,” she concluded.

SHREVEPORT/BOSSIER

David Scotton, who is featured in the film “I Lived on Parker Avenue” scheduled to be available online March 8, told the crowd in a post-march rally because of their efforts, people like him had the opportunity to live. His birth mom was moments away from aborting him when a pro-life supporter stood outside an abortion clinic and urged her to give him up for adoption.

as a nation have this opportunity to impact people on the power of adoption,” said Scotton, now a student at LSU. “I didn’t want to do this originally. This was not part of my life plan. But God has called me unto this path and this is very clear that this is what I’m supposed to be doing.

“This movement has given me life,” he continued. “What all of you do I appreciate so much. I know many of you are on the abortion clinic sidewalk praying for women going in.

It’s hard to realize that it could have been one of you that saved my life. So many of you actively save lives and I appreciate you so much.”

Dennis Sims, pastor of Ellerbe Baptist Church, Shreveport, said in his message those marching did so because the pro-life movement represents the love and change Jesus can orchestrate.

“Jesus promised that there is one incontrovertible, visible proof that one is a follower of Jesus and that is the love we demonstrate toward one another and our world,” he said. “Therefore let us declare loudly and proudly that we are followers of Jesus and that we have marched today, not out of insanity, hatred, anger or bitterness, but because of our love for the Lord, life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. And we want everyone watching to know Jesus – the only source of true love, life, liberty and happiness as well.”

U.S. Rep. Mike Johnson was unable to attend the rally because of commitments as a member of Congress, but addressed the crowd through an audio message.

'Plenty of good news' highlights LBF Board meeting

By JERRY LOVE

Director of Planned Giving

ALEXANDRIA (LBM) – Positive economic news, the welcoming of two new trustees and a budget surplus to finish 2017 highlighted the quarterly meeting of the Louisiana Baptist Foundation Board of Trustees meeting February 6.

Members also learned that $1.7 million in donations benefiting Louisiana Baptists' ministries had been received in 2017 and the Foundation was still seeking new accounting software. Trustees also discussed changing the current format of the Board's meeting.

INVESTMENT UPDATES

Lee Morris, Investment Consultant with Graystone Consulting, gave trustees a glowing update on the performance of the LBF portfolio and general overview of market conditions.

In his remarks, Morris described the equity markets as "having a banner year" with emerging markets and developed international equities leading the way. He said the expectation is for international equities to continue to outperform domestic equities, possibly for several years.

Other issues he addressed:

--Fixed income positions are, as expected, are producing very modest returns.

-- Convertible securities and preferred stocks, have done well compared to their indices and added value to the fund mix in 2017.

-- Moran Stanley's Global Investment Committee projects the equity markets around the world may experience volatility over the next few weeks and then move higher again.

The investment returns for the major components of the LBF portfolio for the year ending December 31, 2017 were as follows:

-- Short Term Fund:

0.87% actual yield;

-- Group Investment Fund, comprised of various market sectors: 11.97% total return;

-- Diversified Income Fund, conservative income-oriented fund: 2.58% total return.

Chuck Murray, LBF controller, reported assets under management, as December 31, 2017 stand at $162,967,300.

OPERATING COMMITTEE

Despite decreased revenue from the Cooperative Program, Murray reported cost recovery income and investment income were higher than projected which allowed the LBF to finish the year with a slight budget surplus.

Jerry Love, Director of Planned Giving, told trustees that gift activity had increased. Additions to existing funds combined with gifts from couples and individuals along with stock donations totaled $1.72 million benefitting churches and ministry organizations, he said. Additionally nine estate plans were completed that will leave gifts in the future.

Executive Director

Wayne Taylor and Murray reported they are pursuing the best option for accounting software. So far, two different commercial trust accounting software packages have failed to match the functionality of the LBF's existing customized system.

The current system, in use since 1999, still works well and has been upgraded to a new platform, but there is a need to find new technical support for future enhancements or repairs Taylor reported.

GENERAL SESSION

The Board approved a recommendation from the Investment Committee regarding the operation of the Reserve Fund for the Short Term Fund (STF). Created during the 2008 financial crisis, the fund supports the assets of the Short Term Fund.

The recommendation would allow the Executive Director and Controller to allocate money to the reserve each month within a specific dollar range. The allocations and reserve fund balance are reviewed each quarterly meeting.

Trustees also approved the Spending Policy of the Foundation's permanently restricted accounts to 2.29%. This percentage would give the beneficiaries an increase of the dollars distributed to them in 2017.

In other action, the board discussed a significant change to the current meeting in regards to the elimination of the standing committees. By changing the structure to a single meeting, it would eliminate repetitive activities and discussions. Trustees will study the matter further and discuss it at the spring meeting.

The board also welcomed new trustees Terry Arceneaux of New Orleans and Mark Lewis from Lake Charles.

The next LBF trustee meeting is scheduled for May 8, 2018.

To learn more about the work and ministry of the Foundation, to review investment returns for its managed funds, or to see a list of current trustees, go to www.LBFinfo.org.

Family from page one got past the discouragement Satan was trying to throw at me of thinking I shouldn't go through with baptism because I waited so long after my decision. God used my son as that little push to finally follow through with God's will for me."

A GROWING FAMILY

Paul and her son are among 25 people baptized during the last seven months of 2017 for a congregation that saw just two baptized in 2016, according to church records.

The trend has continued in 2018, with five participating in baptism through the end of January.

The church has seen its weekly gathering grow as well.

In January 2017, the church averaged 70 on Sunday mornings.

By the end of the year, average attendance more than doubled, to 150.

A GROWING MINISTRY

The baptisms and worship attendance increases reflect how the congregation is catching onto their God-centered purpose, according to Stephen Richardson, who became transition pastor in June.

"Our people are going into the community to invite people to church," Richardson said. "Their whole mindset now is 'How do I invite someone to church.' This congregation is passionate about their reason for being the church in this area and that is to win souls for Christ."

Prayer is now a centerpiece of the church's worship services.

Every Sunday and Wednesday, the congregation joins hands to form a prayer circle. Members also have moved from a focus on "general" prayers to more specific ones for people and needs in the community.

The season of prayer has forged unity and diversity.

For the first time in 20 years, First Mount Nebo has a children's worship time on Sundays, averaging 20 young ones. Its youth group also has grown, from six in early 2016 to 13.

Meanwhile, ministry efforts have grown to include a partnership with First Baptist Church, Jena, and Fellowship Baptist Church, Trout, to host 135 youth for a Fifth Quarter event after a Friday night high school football game.

They held a "Trunk or Treat" outreach in October attended by 90, and participated in a "Miracle of Christ" that took 463 guests on a walk from the birth of Christ to his resurrection over the course of 10 stages at Nebo Ballpark on two nights in December.

Church members also collected 505 shoeboxes that were sent off to Samaritan's Purse for distribution to needy children overseas.

"You can't sit inside the four walls and expect people to come," Richardson said. "You have to get out there. And that's the vision our people have gotten so excited about. They realize that when you invite someone to come to church or to an event, many times they will come."

CEC offered.

"It's really important to get away from campus and connect with those from other campuses," Knight said. "I enjoyed how the speaker really spoke to me about trusting him in the next things of life."

Seth McCoy, a freshman from Louisiana Tech University, Ruston, saw CEC as a chance to relax in a setting conducive to hearing God speak into his life.

"A big group of us were able to come down here and join together to learn from the speaker and seminars," McCoy said. "It's an opportunity we don't really get a lot, so when we do it's important to take advantage of it."

Chase Cassels, a freshman from the University of Louisiana, Monroe, appreciated the chance to unwind away from the pressures faced on campus.

"School is stressful and this was the perfect opportunity to get close to God a couple of hours away," Cassels said. "When you get to hang out with friends for a couple of days, it's so relieving."

Tullios also was executive director of the Louisiana Moral and Civic Foundation.

Scripture Crypto

The Scripture Crypto is a Bible verse in which one letter has been substituted for another, thus encoding the verse. To find out what the verse is, you must determine what each letter is a substitute for. An "a," for example, may stand for a "t" in this week's issue of the ScriptureCrypto. Next week, "a" could stand for a "d." Each week, each letter is different. Solve by trial and error. The answer will be given next week. Note: All numerals, such as those in the scripture reference after the verse, are spelled out.

BATON ROUGE

Louisiana Attorney General Jeff Landry encouraged the crowd to stand for life. He cited a commitment by the current presidential administration to nominate pro-life circuit court judges as evidence the tide is turning in favor of those who oppose abortion. As the confirmation process moves forward, Landry asked the crowd to contact their representatives to encourage them to vote yes.

"This is our moment," Landry said. "This is our victory, to put these people on the circuit court is going to deliver the victory that each and every one of you all have fought for over the last 45 years."

Also speaking to the crowd was Louis Charrier, who was joined on stage by his daughter, Nicole, and his wife, June, who sang "Thy Will Be Done." Charrier is pastor of Washington Baptist Church and other church plants in the state.

Not long after her birth in 1980, Nicole was injured in an automobile accident that left her with a severe head trauma, causing her to go blind and leaving her with Cerebral Palsy-like symptoms. Though she still is unable to speak, walk or eat without assistance, she has impacted a number of people who tend to her physical needs through in-home care visits at the Charrier home.

Of the many medical personnel who have visited the Charrier home, six have accepted Christ.

Charrier told the crowd that despite her disabilities, he consider Nicole a blessing from God.

"Her life is important to us and to our nation," Charrier said. "Every life is important.

"As a pastor, I believe that life comes from the Lord and it is a gift that God has given," he continued. "Life is sacred. God gives us the strength to take care of her day after day. There are days sometimes that can be gloomy and disappointing. Sometimes it can get discouraging. God gives you the strength. God gives you the grace to continue going day after day."

WASHINGTON, D.C.

One day before the Baton Rouge march, Louisianans

were a part of those who traveled from across the nation and around the world to stand up for the unborn in the 45th Annual March for Life in the nation's capital.

Tommy Middleton, director of missions for the Baptist Association of Greater Baton Rouge, attended with his wife, Karen, Louisiana Baptist Convention Executive Director David Hankins and his wife, Patti, and a few other Louisiana Baptists from the state. Middleton told the Baptist Message he was honored to attend an event that had always been on his bucket list.

"It was an incredible experience to see the people of the US to come together for the cause of life," Middleton said. "It was not just a social event but had an undeniable spiritual emphasis there. Most of the driving forces behind the pro-life movement are Christian. We are pro-life from the womb to the tomb."

During the post-march rally, President Donald Trump became the first U.S. president to address a national March for Life crowd.

"The March for Life is a movement born out of love," Trump said in a video feed broadcast from the White House. "You love your families, you love your neighbors, you love our nation, and you love every child, born and unborn, because you believe that every life is sacred, that every child is a precious gift from God.

"We know that life is the greatest miracle of all," he continued. "We see it in the eyes of every new mother who cradles that wonderful, innocent, and glorious newborn child in her loving arms.

"I want to thank every person here today and all across our country who works with such big hearts and tireless devotion to make sure that parents have the care and support they need to choose life," he said. "Because of you, tens of thousands of Americans have been born and reached their full, God-given potential — because of you. You're living witnesses of this year's March for Life theme. And that theme is — love saves lives."

HOW'S YOUR HEART?

URGENT WARNING: The Norm. It's a heart condition found in many believers and it's called Spiritual Arrhythmia. It occurs when your heart beats with an irregular pattern when it comes to money. Is your heart more attuned with the latest market roller coaster or to your relationship with Jesus and people? The challenge and reward of God's Kingdom is to be Not the Norm. Read on.

2017 Annual Cooperative Program Giving Report

COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

The heart of Southern Baptist Missions and Ministries

I ran across a statement several years ago that resonated with me, “The Cooperative Program is the heart of Southern Baptist Missions and Ministries.” It resonates with me because I believe it’s true.

Since its inception in 1845, the reason, the motivation, the glue, if you will, of Southern Baptists has been missions – anywhere and everywhere. The heart of Southern Baptists, of Louisiana Baptists, is missions.

Jesus reminded His audience, and us, that where our treasure is, you'll also find our hearts. This is true as it relates to personal stewardship/giving and to a church’s participation in missions.

So, on the pages that follow, you'll get a glimpse of the heart of Louisiana Baptists. It's a heart for people reflected in a commitment to cooperative missions and ministries.

Please allow me to add an observation and a challenge... while the heart is healthy, the beat is not as strong as it once was. Natural disasters and economic challenges, combined with the reality that many of our congregations have plateaued and declined, have taken their toll on our collective heart.

Thank you for your faithfulness in challenging times. As the Lord restores us, let's recommit ourselves, and our resources, to our cooperative missions and ministries. To accomplish all that needs to be done in our state among those who are far from God, we need a strong heart that will carry the Gospel to every person in every corner of our state.

Faternally,

Dr. David Hankins

4 CHAMBERS
OF THE
BELIEVER’S HEART

TIME

How do you spend the limited amount of time
you have on this earth?

TREASURE

Your money is the most tangible measurement of your obedience and devotion to God.

NOT THE NORM
